

Customer Support Ruling Credit Card References on Nonprofit Standard Mail PS-292 (E670.5), Revised November 1997

Reprinted with permission from the US Postal Service Mailers Companion, Vol. 3, No. 1, January 1998, Washington DC: US Postal Service Marketing Systems

This ruling addresses permissible credit card references to membership benefits but does not alter a nonprofit organization's ability to mention that a donation or payment for a service etc. may be made by credit card.

A question was raised concerning permissible credit card references under the provisions of Domestic Mail Manual (DMM) E670.5.7. That standard provides that an authorized organization's material is not disqualified from being mailed at the Nonprofit Standard Mail rates solely because that material contains, but is not primarily devoted to:

- a. Acknowledgements of organizations or individuals who have made donations to the authorized organization.
- b. References to and a response card or other instructions for making inquiries about services or benefits available from membership in the authorized organization, if advertising, promotional, or application materials for such services or benefits are not included.

The question concerns the use of the words "Visa" or "MasterCard" or others when announcing membership benefits which include an affinity credit card. It is permissible for an authorized organization to announce the availability of an affinity credit card provided the announcement contains no promotional material or application materials (see Publication 417, NonProfit Standard Mail Eligibility, section 6-3.3.7, October 1996 edition).

A simple reference to a membership benefit of an organization is not considered promotional (for example, (Continued on page 2))

Window Envelopes and FASTforward<sup>SM</sup>

Reprinted with permission from the US Postal Service Mailers Companion, Vol. 3, No. 5, May 1998, Washington DC: US Postal Service Marketing Systems

If you use a FASTforward Multiline Optical Character Reader (MLOCR), remember that the temporary waiver expires July 1, 1998. The waiver allows the use of envelopes with windows that intrude into the barcode clear zone. The 12-month waiver allowed mailers to use up their stock of such window envelopes.

After the waiver expires, the requirements will be in full effect as stated in the Domestic Mail Manual (C830.4.1) and the FASTforward license. The requirement states that, whether you use MLOCR or RVE technology, an envelope with a window that intrudes into the barcode clear zone is not eligible for FASTforward under DMM F030.

Simplified Endorsements

Reprinted with permission from the US Postal Service Mailers Companion, Vol. 3, No. 1, January 1998, Washington DC: US Postal Service Marketing Systems

On New Year's Day, the grace period expired and the old ancillary service endorsements officially became obsolete.

The Postal Service, early last year, introduced four new ancillary service endorsements that made the endorsement system simpler and more consistent.

The endorsements consist of one keyword—"Address," "Forwarding," "Return," or "Change"—followed by the two words "Service Requested." Identical for all mail classes, the new endorsements generally trigger the same services as the former endorsements did.

As of January 1, 1998, the previous 12 endorsements are no longer valid. This ends the 6-month transition period (July 1 through (Continued on page 2))

"Members receive an affinity credit card. Write for details"). However, the use of brand names such as "Visa" or "MasterCard" is considered promotional. Therefore, references to membership benefits such as "Members receive a Visa Card" are prohibited from being mailed at the Nonprofit Standard Mail rates.

Promotional material concerning an affinity credit card such as terms or conditions (for example, "Benefits include a 13.5 percent interest rate, no annual fee for six months, and the availability of purchase insurance") makes the reference ineligible for the Nonprofit Standard Mail rates. Additionally, language describing the card or its uses or benefits (for example, "low-cost") or the issuer (such as "well-known national corporation") is considered promotional. However, previous publications have not made clear that brand names such as "Visa" are also considered promotional. Indeed, an early Classification Currents Communicator article published in March 1992 may have caused some customers to believe that the word "Visa" may be permissible.

Therefore, a piece mailed before July 1, 1997, was not disqualified from being mailed at Nonprofit Standard Mail rates solely because a reference contained a brand name such as "Visa." If any other promotional material such as described above was present, the mailpiece was ineligible for Nonprofit Standard Mail rates. Customers are advised that future mailings at NonProfit Standard Mail rates may not include the brand name of the credit card when announcing the membership benefits which include an affinity credit card referred to in the mailpiece.

As information, the content of this ruling is not intended to be used to disqualify mail from the Nonprofit Standard Mail rates simply because a credit card name(s) was mentioned solely as a payment method. For example, "You may pay for your tickets by check, Visa Card, or MasterCard." Listing the name of the credit card as a potential payment method does not exclude the mailpiece from eligibility for the Nonprofit Standard Mail rates, unless the nonprofit organization received consideration from the credit card company or bank for inclusion of the credit card's name.

Note that it is not permissible for an authorized nonprofit organization to promote its own affinity card (for example, the Stein Benevolent Foundation may not state, "You may pay for your tickets by check, Visa Card, MasterCard, or your Stein Benevolent Foundation (organization's name) credit card.").

December 31) during which both old and new endorsements were acceptable. The transition period allowed mailers to use their stock of envelopes printed with the old endorsements.

From January 1 on, any mailpieces that show the old endorsements will be treated as if endorsed either "Address Service Requested" or "Return Service Requested" depending on which service the endorsement seems to indicate.

For example, if the obsolete endorsement implies that forwarding service is desired, "Address Service Requested" service will be provided for that mailpiece. If it implies no forwarding, "Return Service Requested" service will be provided.

Any endorsements that were never approved may not receive address correction service.

If you are endorsing your mailpiece to satisfy the Move Update requirements for First-Class presorted or First-Class automation rate mail, only two endorsements qualify: "Address Service Requested" and "Return Service Requested."

The way mail is handled under the different endorsements was laid out in detail in a previous issue of Mailers Companion (May 1997).

USPS Offers Customers Free Mail Flow Software

Reprinted with permission from the US Postal Service, memo to mailers, Vol. 32, No. 7., Washington DC: US Postal Service Corporate Relations. Downloaded from <http://www.usps.gov/business/mtm/mtm0797/julyart6.htm>

The USPS is constantly looking for ways to enhance mailing efficiency investing in state-of-the-art automated systems. But technology is only half of the equation. For mail processing systems work, large and small customers need to do their part, too. And when customers take advantage of technology, they are rewarded with substantial savings in both time and money. Now there's a software program specifically designed to reveal all of the ways customers can take full advantage of USPS technology.

The Mail Flow Planning System 5.0 (MFPS) is an interactive program that can be downloaded for free from the USPS Web site or obtained through the mail. Once installed, the program takes users through a series of steps that provide specific instruction on ways to cut costs, save time and earn a higher return on mail systems investments.

"Essentially anyone who uses our mail service can gain from this program by learning how to qualify for rate reductions and other mailing incentives," said Tom DeVaughan, customer service support analyst. "It describes all relevant postal rules and regulations, including barcoding and addressing requirements, and it even has a section that calculates a customer's current return on investment (ROI) and then compares it to a projected return after these steps have been taken."

DeVaughan also said the program, which is geared toward First-Class and Standard Mail, provides users with a full list of USPS products and services, as well as some third-party products that can enhance mailing efficiency.

The software is available for downloading at the USPS Web site: <http://www.usps.gov/clr/>

Minimum system requirements for running MFPS 5.0 include:

- IBM/compatible computer
- 386/33 processor
- 4 M of RAM
- 8 M available on a hard drive
- One high density 3.5" disk drive
- DOS 5.0
- Windows 3.1 or Windows 95

The USPS recommends that the software be loaded onto and run from a hard disk but can be run from a floppy diskette as well. If you do not have access to the Internet, customers can get the program on a 3.5 inch floppy disk by calling the National Customer Support Center at (800) 238-3150 and asking for MFPS 5.0.

Ask Dr. Goodbarcode

Reprinted with permission from the US Postal Service Mailers Companion, Vol. 2, No. 6, June 1997, Washington DC: US Postal Service Marketing Systems

Dear Dr. Goodbarcode: I have a couple of questions. My word-processing software will print barcodes on envelopes. Should I use barcodes on my personal mail? Would there be any benefit to doing that? Could I get any discounts or anything?

If not, the other question is, am I allowed to do it anyway? The barcoded envelopes just look so cool and official!

Please let me know what you think, because I really value your opinion. I know you're the guru of postal info, especially postal barcoding info. I think it's such a neat coincidence that your name even has the word "barcode" in it!

Yours truly,

I. M. Eager, Beaverton CO

Dear I.: By all means, barcode away! There's a definite benefit (though the benefit is not a discount, since you mail single pieces).

Your barcoded letter will probably get read (just the outside of it, of course) by a barcode sorting machine (also known as a BCS, of course). When mail is sorted on these machines, many of the normal processing steps get bypassed. Using barcodes might sometimes save you a whole day in delivery time.

Which is good, because then you can say, "Barcodes saved the day!"

And even without the benefit of possible speed, you're still allowed to barcode personal mail. Just make sure each barcode is correct and in one of three places: lower right corner, at the top of the address block, or at the bottom of the block (the last two would be easiest for you). Get those barcodes straight and your worries will vanish like the morning mist on a sunny day in June.

By the way, it's funny that you should mention my being a guru. I was thinking about my job title and its related acronym. Maybe you could help me come up with something appropriate.

How do you like "Resident Expert on All Things Postal (REATP)"? Or how about "Vice President in Charge of Answering Questions (VPAQ)"?

I know what you're thinking: those titles are way too long. I would have to write all my letters on legal-size paper just to fit the job title.

But I think "Know It All (KIA)" is too general, and "Postal Information Guru (PIG)" is somehow awkward.

I'm really in a dither over this issue, so if you could send me some suggestions, I would be externally grateful. — Sincerely, Dr. Goodbarcode

Customer Support Ruling Documentation for Walk Sequence ECR Mailings Using CDS PS-293 (A950, M050, P012), July 1997

Printed with permission from the U.S. Postal Service. Mailers Companion, Vol. 2, No. 8, August 1997. Washington D.C.: U.S. Postal Service Marketing Systems.

MOST mailings prepared with the Postal Service's Computerized Delivery Sequence (CDS) product are addressed using the occupant address format in Domestic Mail Manual (DMM) A040.2.0.

DMM A950.5.0 provides, in part, that each mailing submitted at an Enhanced Carrier Route Standard Mail rate must be accompanied by Form 3553, Coding Accuracy Support System Summary Report. DMM A950.5.4 describes the information the form requires. Because of the uniqueness of the way the Memphis NCSC processes CDS lists, the Postal Service allows mailers to use an abbreviated facsimile Form 3553 to support ECR Standard Mail rate mailings prepared from CDS lists. The facsimile form may be printed after the carrier route qualification summary (the "packing list") instead of printed as a separate form. The facsimile requires only this information:

- Facsimile USPS Form 3553
- A1. United States Postal Service
- B1. List Processor Name: CDS Product
- B2. Date List Processed: (The date the mailing labels are produced or the mailing list is generated. The mailing must be presented within 90 days of this date and the date the list is processed must be within 90 days of the CDS file date reported in B3. For example, mailing labels produced on July 15 using the April CDS product may be used for mailings presented up to 90 days from July 15.)
- B3. Date of CDS File: (The date shown—month and year—is the date of the CDS product used. This date appears on the CDS Product Invoice—as the cycle date—or on the CDS confirmation form generated by the NCSC.)

The mailer is not required to sign the facsimile Form 3553 for CDS mailings because the processing for accuracy is actually performed by the NCSC. In addition to presenting a facsimile Form 3553 as described above, the mailer must substantiate compliance with the standards for carrier sequencing by providing documentation described in DMM M050.4.0.

Under this section, the mailer must provide (or maintain) a list of the number of pieces qualifying for each ECR rate claimed by 5-digit ZIP Code and, within each, by carrier route, and must include appropriate information to support eligibility for the High Density and Saturation rates.

For CDS mailings, the "Packing List" is generally submitted to meet this standard. Presort documentation generated by PAVE-certified presort software or in an approved standardized format as described in DMM P012.2.0 is not required for mailings of identical weight pieces if the mailings are separated by rate when presented for acceptance (e.g., ECR High Density and Saturation rate mail must be separated when presented for verification).

New ZIP for Lewisberg

In June of this year, a new ZIP Code, 75077, was added to the Lewisburg, TX post office. Soon after, a strange thing began happening. The Lewisburg office began seeing a significant volume of mail addressed with a last line of PRINCETON TX 75077. Also, the Princeton TX office began receiving some mail that belonged to Lewisberg TX bearing the 75077 ZIP Code.

The City State files for June and July provided by the Postal Service contain no reference to Princeton TX under ZIP Code 75077. Research revealed that the ZIP Code did exist until about eight years ago, and that it was connected with Princeton TX. It is believed that some customer files may still contain a reference to ZIP Code 75077 and Princeton TX.

The Address Management office is asking that all mailers and software providers analyze their files to delete any reference to Princeton TX under ZIP Code 75077. All addresses using that ZIP Code should use "Lewisberg TX" as the city and state.

Renumbered Post Office Boxes

This file lists post office boxes that have been renumbered. The old range is the range of PO box addresses prior to renumbering, and the new range is the range after renumbering. If the numbering change coincided with a ZIP Code change, the newly assigned ZIP Code appears in the NEW ZIP column. The CONTINUITY column indicates whether the renumbering was accomplished only by changing or adding leading characters. If that was the case, Y appears in the column.
